

PATRIOT SUCCESS

The Patriot Success Survey

is administered to all undergraduate, degree-seeking students during the 5th and 6th week of the fall semester. The data represented on this side of the infographic exemplifies the first-time freshman and incoming transfer students.

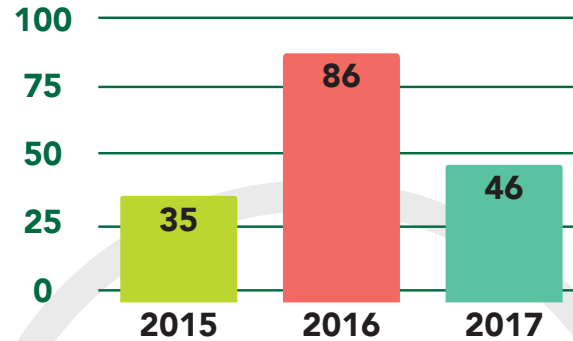

Incoming first year and transfer students are optimistic about Mason. They expect to do well in their classes and graduate in a timely fashion. For more information about the Patriot Success (Beacon survey), questions, and results from previous years, see patriotsuccess.gmu.edu or <https://ira.gmu.edu/survey-results-and-reports/beacon/>

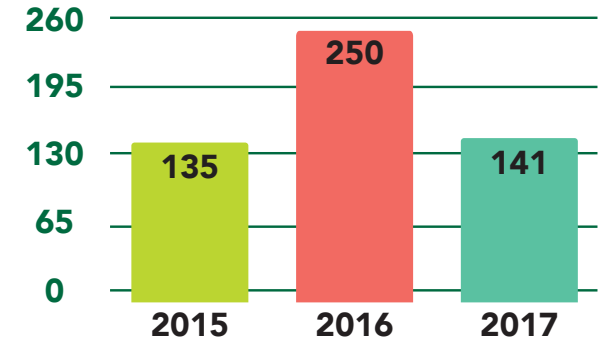

Students reporting that they never felt safe on campus.

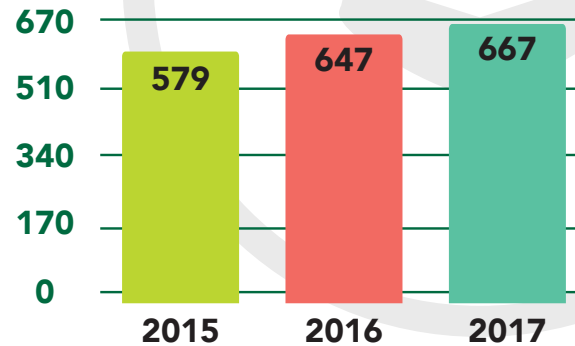

Students indicating that they never have a steady place to live.

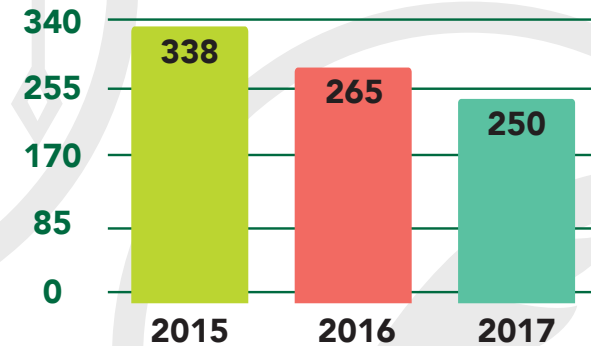

Students reporting that they never have enough food to eat.

Students stating that they feel as if they do not belong on our campus.

Students stating that next semester they plan to transfer or leave the university not due to graduation.

In the past four years, there have been a significant number of students reporting concerns about their stability on campus and their ability to pay for college. After the Patriot Success/Beacon survey, a number of Mason faculty and staff reach out to students experiencing severe housing/food/safety issues, and students at risk for leaving. There are a number of resources across campus that can support student success. See patriotsuccess.gmu.edu for details, and do your part to provide support, provide mentorship, and refer students to resources that can provide assistance.
